

Policy for PSHE including RHE and RSE. Stoke Heath Primary School

PSHE Intent

We are Citizens!

At Stoke Heath, we have designed a bespoke PSHE curriculum which improves pupils' personal development by continually building on their knowledge, skills and understanding of being a safe, respectful and inclusive citizen in modern-day Britain. Our personalised programme of study goes beyond the statutory requirements of RHE and incorporates relationships and sex education. We also equip pupils with knowledge about their future. We learn about the next stage of their education and, also start to think about career choices. SMSC is integrated into each strand of the PSHE curriculum to enable pupils to contribute positively to their community and society. Pupils learn how to keep themselves healthy, including both physically and mentally and we provide them with the knowledge needed to make the correct choices. We promote British Values at Stoke Heath by incorporating all British values within the PSHE strands of work.

The 7 strands of our PSHE curriculum are:

- Our Safety
- Our Community
- Our Future
- Our Feelings and Well-Being
- Our Relationships
- Our Bodies
- Our Digital World

1. POLICY STATEMENT

1.1. Definitions

Relationships and Health Education (RHE) was introduced as statutory curriculum content in 2019.

Relationships Education can be defined as teaching the fundamental building blocks and characteristics of positive relationships, with particular reference to friendships, family relationships, and relationships with other children and with adults.

Health Education can be defined as teaching the characteristics of good physical health and mental wellbeing.

Sex Education is a non-statutory part of the curriculum and specifically refers to curriculum content about human reproduction not covered in the Primary science curriculum.

Relationships, Health and Sex Education form part of the school's Personal, Social and Health Education (PSHE) programme. In addition to Relationships and Health Education, PSHE covers some additional non-statutory curriculum content including careers education, citizenship, emotional literacy, personal safety, community engagement and Sex Education. It also incorporates British Values and preparation for life in modern Britain.

1.2. Policy Scope and Rationale

This policy covers our school's approach to the teaching of RHE and Sex Education through PSHE lessons. It applies to all children being taught statutory curriculum content from Years 1 to 6.

This policy is a working document which provides guidance and information on all aspects of RHE, PSHE and Sex Education and aims to provide a secure framework within which staff can work.

This policy is for staff, parents/carers, governors and visitors to the school.

1.3. Policy Consultation

This policy was produced by the school's PSHE leader and Senior Leadership Team through consultation with teachers, governors, parents and children. We are committed to working with parents/carers as well as all other school stakeholders, to make this policy as collaborative as possible.

Consultation took the form of a general questionnaire for parents and meetings with governors and teachers. The feedback from this process showed the overwhelming majority of the parents supported the teaching of all the new content covered by RHE. Teachers and Governors also indicated that they fully supported the teaching of this new content.

Pupils have been involved in the creation of this policy through an annual pupil survey.

Consultation around this policy will continue after its publication and this policy will be reviewed by the PSHE Leader and Senior Leadership Team on an annual basis.

1.4. Policy Availability

This policy will be made available through the policy section of the school website. A hard copy and accessible versions can also be obtained on request and free of charge.

Parents will be informed of the policy through a school letter and notice on the website. Teachers will be made aware of the policy through staff meetings. Pupils will also be made aware of the content through their PSHE lessons.

1.5. Legal Requirements

The Department for Education has specified that all primary schools must teach RHE from September 2020, (no later than Easter 2021). The law in relation to RHE states that schools must have a Relationships and Health Education policy that has been produced in consultation with parents and the wider community.

Schools are also required to comply with relevant requirements of the Equality Act 2010. Under the provisions of the Equality Act, schools must not unlawfully discriminate against pupils because of their age, sex, race, disability, religion or belief, gender reassignment, pregnancy or maternity, marriage or civil partnership, or sexual orientation (collectively known as the protected characteristics). Schools must also make reasonable adjustments to alleviate disadvantage and be mindful of the SEND Code of Practice when planning for these subjects.

Governing bodies of schools are also required to keep an up-to-date Sex Education policy that describes content and the organisation of SRE provided outside the national curriculum for science. Parents/Carers have the right to withdraw their children from SRE lessons and they will be fully informed of this right.

Other related policies and documents:

- Anti-bullying Policy
- Behaviour and Physical Restraint Policy
- Child Protection and Safeguarding Children Policy
- Curriculum Statement
- E-safety Policy
- Peer on Peer Abuse Policy
- Prevent Safeguarding Policy
- SEND and Inclusion Policy

1.6. Roles and Responsibilities

The governing body is legally responsible for the development and implementation of this policy.

The PSHE programme will be led by the school's PSHE Leader. The leader will be supported and monitored by the school's Senior Leadership Team and Head teacher.

It is the role of the PSHE Leader to develop and monitor this policy, disseminate and consult about its content and ensure its successful delivery through staff training and monitoring.

Teachers are responsible for delivery of PSHE in line with this policy.

All school staff are responsible for reinforcing the values and legal requirements underpinning this policy, particularly in connection to Child Protection and Safeguarding.

2. AIMS AND OBJECTIVES

2.1. School Ethos

Stoke Heath Primary School is passionate about the importance of providing children with good quality PSHE including RSE and RHE. In doing so, we aim to provide children with the skills they need in order to be happy and successful adults and navigate the modern world. It is vital that children's physical and emotional health, safety and well-being is at the forefront of all we do. When children are happy and secure, they can succeed both academically and personally.

2.2. Moral Framework and Values

The teaching of PSHE reflects the school's values of learning, respect, inclusivity and honesty. It also reflects the school's requirements to promote British Values. Therefore, PSHE reinforces the values of:

- self-respect and respect for others
- empathy, mutual support and co-operation
- responsibility for personal actions
- an awareness of the uniqueness of individuals
- · respect and acceptance towards others who may have different backgrounds, cultures, religions and sexuality
- diversity within any group of people in terms of gender, religion, language, race, culture, social background, appearance, family set-up, sexual orientation, special needs, ability or disability.
- the right of people to hold their own views (as long as these views do not impact negatively on the rights of others)
- the right not to be abused by or taken advantage of by other people
- the right to accurate information about health, relationship and sex issues

2.3. Aim of Teaching PSHE

Our priorities for teaching RHE come from our knowledge of our community; issues raised by parents, children and teachers; information from local police, feeder schools and social care and the local authority. This evidence is used to generate priorities and identified needs for the scheme of work.

From this process, our identified aims in teaching PSHE are:

- To keep our pupils safe by equipping them with the necessary skills and knowledge to manage their own behaviour and relationships
- To make sure pupils are physically, emotionally and mentally healthy
- To teach the life skills required to enable them to thrive as they grow and develop in a fast-changing world with many challenges and pressures on children
- To provide the skills and knowledge they need to fully manage the natural physical and emotional changes that will happen to them as they grow and mature into healthy, confident and responsible adults
- To promote the school's ethos and values

2.4. Teaching and Learning Objectives

The teaching of PSHE meets the school's overarching aims and values by teaching children:

- the ability to keep themselves and other people safe by minimising risk from harm
- the knowledge to reduce the risks to their own and the health of others
- an understanding of their own bodies and how to make healthy choices
- an awareness of the right they have over their own body

- self-esteem, self-awareness and mental wellbeing
- the skills needed for successful relationships
- the skills and knowledge to make positive informed choices
- the ability to take responsibility for and accept the consequences of their own actions
- opportunities to understand and celebrate difference and diversity
- good communication skills
- the confidence and know-how to seek help and advice

3. CONTENT

3.1. Relationships Education (Statutory)

In line with our aims and objectives, and statutory guidance on Relationships Education and Health Education, Relationships Education will teach:

- Information about different kinds of relationships including friendships, families and people pupils can go to for support.
- Characteristics of healthy relationships.
- The facts about marriage and civil partnership.
- · How to take turns, treat others with kindness, consideration and respect.
- The importance of honesty, permission seeking and giving, and the concept of personal privacy.
- Personal space and boundaries, showing respect, and understanding the differences between appropriate and inappropriate contact.
- Online safety and appropriate behaviour online.
- Developing personal attributes including honesty, integrity, courage, humility, kindness, generosity, trustworthiness and a sense of justice.
- Positive emotional and mental wellbeing, including how friendships can support mental wellbeing.
- How to recognise and report abuse, including bullying, emotional, physical and sexual abuse.

3.2. Health Education (Statutory)

In line with our aims and objectives, and statutory guidance on Relationships Education and Health Education, Health Education will teach:

- The importance of daily exercise, good nutrition and sufficient sleep.
- The steps pupils can take to protect their own and others' health and wellbeing this includes teaching simple self-care techniques, personal hygiene, how to prevent health and wellbeing problems, and basic first aid.
- The relationship between good physical health and good mental wellbeing including the benefits exercise and spending time outdoors can have on mental wellbeing.
- The benefits of hobbies, interests and participation in communities.
- The benefits of rationing the time spent online and the risks of excessive use of electronic devices.
- Issues relating to isolation, loneliness, unhappiness, bullying and the negative impact of poor health and wellbeing.
- Why social media, computer games and online gaming have age restrictions, and how to manage common online difficulties.
- The facts around puberty and menstruation.

3.3. Personal, Social and Health Education (PSHE) Curriculum (Optional)

Both Relationships and Health Education will be taught as part of the school's overall PSHE curriculum. This includes RSE (See section 6), careers education and financial education. The content of our combined PSHE curriculum is largely based on the PSHE Association's recommended programme of study which we have then personalised resulting in a bespoke curriculum specifically written for the children of Stoke Heath.

We have organised content from the statutory guidance as well as content we want to include around 7 strands: Our Safety, Our community, Our Future, Our Feelings, Our Relationships, Our bodies and Our Digital World. Each strand has 6 lessons which are progressive across the year and across the school. While ideas and themes are revisited, individual lesson intentions and content and different.

See appendix 1 for a long term plan showing an overview of the learning

4. ORGANISATION

4.1. How is PSHE delivered?

PSHE is taught weekly by all year groups from years 1 to 6. Lessons are usually around 30 minutes in length and take place in the morning wherever possible. Lessons are mostly book based, with a wide range of depersonalised resources such as use of a class puppet, 1Decision programme or use of video and drama, as well as written tasks.

The teacher is responsible for establishing a safe learning environment for the lessons, where there are clear ground rules, different opinions are encouraged and respected, and children feel comfortable in discussing the issues raised during lessons. Questions asked during lessons are encouraged and answered factually in line with the content of the scheme of work. When teaching more sensitive content and where children may feel embarrassed in asking questions, children are taught to ask questions through a class message box. Teachers are trained in distancing techniques to ensure that all staff and children feel comfortable during these lessons, though lessons also make links to the children's real-life experiences and encourage putting the ideas learned in lessons into practice.

Strands are not taught in blocks but on a constant cycle. E.g. Lesson 1 from strand 1, then lesson 1 from strand 2 then lesson 1 from strand 3 etc. This is to ensure that all strands are constantly revisited throughout the year. All classes cover the same strand at the same time. This enables weekly assemblies to be linked to the strand that children are covering that week giving further learning opportunities as well as creating a whole school ethos around PSHE.

4.2. Who delivers Relationships and Health Education?

We believe that due to the personal nature of some of the learning, PSHE is best delivered by the class teacher. As much as possible, we try to ensure PSHE is not delivered by a supply teacher to ensure the lessons are appropriately differentiated, take into account any personal circumstances and are sensitive to the needs of the children. Teachers are trained during staff meetings and training days and supported in their teaching by the PSHE Leader. Due to the nature of PSHE lessons, teachers are trained to report any safe-guarding issues onto CPOMS immediately.

4.3. How are resources used?

In choosing resources for these lessons, we choose high quality resources which best suit the needs of the children. Many of the resources we use have been recommended by the Local Authority and/or the PSHE Association. They are chosen and checked for:

- being inclusive
- positive, healthy and unbiased messages

- age appropriateness
- promoting positive values
- accuracy
- being up to date
- encouraging positive decision making

Staff are trained in using depersonalised resources and activities in lessons, so children are never put under any pressure to discuss matters personal or specific to them.

Parents/carers have the right to view specific resources on request. As we are always evaluating and trying to improve our practise, resources will be continually updated.

4.4. How does the school use outside agencies?

Occasionally, appropriate and suitably experienced and/or knowledgeable visitors from outside school may be invited to contribute to the delivery of RHE in school. This is covered by a code of practice:

- Visitors are invited into school because of the particular expertise or contribution they are able to make
- All input to PSHE lessons are part of a planned programme and negotiated and agreed with staff in advance
- The learning of these sessions will supplement and build on the content taught in PSHE lessons and not replace it
- All visitors are supervised/supported by a member of staff at all times
- The input of visitors is monitored and evaluated by staff and pupils, and will inform future planning
- All visitors are familiar with and understand this policy and work within it

4.5. How will pupil progress be identified?

Progress is PSHE is hard to measure and this is an area we are still developing and investigating.

Currently, we identify progress for individuals or groups through:

- Whole school annual pupil survey
- Individual pupil voice feedback session
- Feedback from teachers
- CPOMS logs
- Use of assessment grids at the end of each lesson

4.6. How will the quality of teaching be monitored and evaluated?

The quality of provision will be monitored by the PSHE Leader and overseen by the Senior Leadership Team and Head Teacher. Where a need has been identified, they will also be responsible for providing support for teachers and pupils. The lessons will be monitored through:

- Learning visits
- Planning
- Pupil voice
- Discussions in staff meetings and training

5. SPECIFIC ISSUES IN PSHE

5.1. Right of Withdrawal in Relationships and Health Education

Relationships and Health Education became a statutory part of the curriculum from September 2020. This means that after this date there is no right to withdraw children from these lessons.

Note that these arrangements do not apply to Sex Education, as this is a non-statutory part of the curriculum. See section 6.4.

5.2. Safeguarding Children

PSHE may bring about disclosures of safeguarding children issues and all staff are conversant with the procedures for reporting their concerns.

In these cases, the school's Child Protection and Safeguarding Children Policy needs to be followed.

5.3. Special Educational Needs (SEN)

Teachers will ensure that lessons meet the needs of all their pupils and will take account of any specific needs of individual children in putting together and delivering their lessons. The texts/resources must be accessible for all learners. The PSHE Leader and Senior Leadership Team will support teachers in high quality differentiation where required, to ensure that all children can access the learning. AFL must be a high priority and misconceptions must be addressed during the lesson. The teacher may address this at the point of learning or can be by a TA or a member of the families team. Where necessary, parents will be informed.

In specific cases, where we feel teaching particular content to pupils may not be appropriate for their needs, we will meet with parents/carers to discuss the most appropriate steps.

5.4. Equality

Planning and delivery of PSHE will always take into account the cultural, family and religious backgrounds of the pupils to ensure that all curriculum content is taught appropriately and in line with the school's ethos and values.

The Department for Education states that schools should be alive to issues such as everyday sexism, misogyny, anti-religious attitudes, homophobia and gender stereotypes and take positive action to build a culture where these are not tolerated, and any occurrences are identified and tackled. Therefore, PSHE lessons will promote the school's values in terms of equality and diversity and any incidents will be dealt with in line with the school's Behaviour Policy.

5.5. Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender (LGBT+)

The Department for Education has stated that schools must ensure that they comply with the relevant provisions of the Equality Act 2010, under which sexual orientation and gender reassignment are amongst the protected characteristics. In line with the school's ethos and values, we want to ensure that PSHE recognises the circumstances of all pupils, parents and families in our school community.

The Department also states that:

"Schools should ensure that all of their teaching is sensitive and age appropriate in approach and content. At the point at which schools consider it appropriate to teach their pupils about LGBT, they should ensure that this content is fully integrated into their programmes of study for this area of the curriculum rather than delivered as a stand-alone unit or lesson. Schools are free to determine how they do this, and we expect all pupils to have been taught LGBT content at a timely point as part of this area of the curriculum."

There are some explicit lessons on LGBT issues as can be seen in the long term plan (Appendix 1). However, as we don't want these to be stand-alone lessons we have also ensured that LGBT representation happens across the curriculum. Often this is through the choice of books we are using which may include LGBT characters even if the lesson doesn't specifically include LGBT learning.

As with the teaching of other curriculum content such as when teaching different religions in Religious Education, teachers will ensure that information about LGBT+ is presented in a neutral and factual manner, without emphasis or bias. This approach was discussed with parents/carers during the consultation process for this policy.

6. SEX EDUCATION

6.1. Status of Sex Education

Sex Education is non-statutory for Primary schools and is not considered to be part of Relationships and / or Health Education. It does form part of the school's overall PSHE provision.

6.2. Why is Sex Education being taught?

The Department for Education recommends that all primary schools should have a Sex Education programme tailored to the age and the physical and emotional maturity of the pupils. It should ensure that both boys and girls are prepared for the changes that adolescence brings and – drawing on knowledge of the human life cycle set out in the national curriculum for science - how a baby is conceived and born.

Sex Education aims to help children understand issues relating to sex and reproduction. Primary sex education is ideally taught before children start to experience puberty and show an increased awareness of matters relating to the body and sex. Primary sex education is about demonstrating to children that matters relating to the body and sex can be spoken about in a sensitive and positive way. This helps children feel more comfortable communicating about these matters. Research strongly suggests this increases the likelihood of them behaving responsibly in any sexual relationship they go on to have, as such responsibility usually requires some kind of communication – with a partner and/or sexual health services. It also increases the likelihood that children will disclose any incidents of abuse or situations which made them feel uncomfortable.

Sex Education gives pupils accurate information about sex within the context of committed relationships, and allows pupils the opportunities to develop life skills and a moral framework that aims to enable them to make positive use of that information.

6.3. What is taught in Sex Education?

Sex Education is taught throughout Year 6 across 4 lessons. These are highlighted in yellow on the LTP (Appendix 1)

It builds on the learning about puberty in Relationships and Health Education in Years 3-5 by explaining:

- about the link between puberty and reproduction
- about reproduction in relationships and why two people might choose to have a sexual relationship
- how babies are made through sex
- the process of conception and pregnancy

The school will continue to consult with parents/carers to discuss whether this offer of provision is sufficient and reflective of the views of all stakeholders, and may therefore change as a result of this consultation.

6.4. Right to Withdrawal in Sex Education

As Sex Education is non-statutory curriculum content, parents/carers have the right to withdraw their children from these lessons.

At the start of each year parents are sent a copy of the LTP for their child's year group. Year 6 parents are informed of their right to withdraw and the lessons this applies to are clearly shown. Any parents wishing to withdraw their child are encouraged to have a conversation with the class teacher, PSHE or a member of SLT. This will allow them to make an informed decision in the best interests of their child.

Requests to withdraw children from Sex Education need to be put in writing to the Head Teacher before the commencement of the lessons. If children are withdrawn from lessons, they are educated in another class for the duration of the lesson.

Note that from September 2020, this right to withdrawal does not apply to curriculum content covered in Relationships and Health Education, including topics around puberty and menstruation.

7. DISSEMINATION AND REVIEW OF POLICY

7.1. Dissemination

All teachers and governors will receive a copy of the policy. Training will be regularly delivered to staff on the policy content.

Information sessions will be held for parents/carers to inform them of the content of this policy and the lessons for their children, and this policy and the scheme of work will be published on the school website.

7.2. Ongoing Consultation

At the start of each year parents are sent a copy of the LTP for their child's year group along with some general information about PSHE. If needed, meetings will be held with parents/carers to review the content of this policy. Following this consultation, the PSHE Leader and Senior Leadership Team are responsible for reviewing and updating this policy.

7.3. Policy Review

This policy is to be reviewed in January 2024
